Please refer to the following important tips and notes:

1. In the above input formats, the U.S. mobile phone numbers are used to represent non-China mobile phone numbers as examples, "1" is the country or region code of the U.S., "US" is the country or region two-letter code of the U.S., "6000000000" is the mobile phone number. When entering the mobile phone number of other countries, these should be replaced accordingly.

2. "CTCM" is the mobile number of the passenger, "CTCE" is the email address of the passenger, "CTCR" is the passenger's refusal to retain the contact information.

3. The "Flight Status Information Release And Management System" for one passenger, the system can read at most three retained "CTCM" passenger mobile numbers and "CTCE" email addresses, which are two types of information. If the input passenger contact information exceeds the upper limit read by the system, only the first three will be read and sent according to the input sequence in PNR.

4. "n" in "Pn", "Nn" and "n.1" denotes the passenger serial number in the PNR.

5. When entering the email address, use ".." to replace the underscore "_", "@" with "/ /", and "-" with ". /".

6. If prefixes and special symbols are required by the input codes of overseas GDS, the requirements of each specific GDS shall prevail. For example, for Apollo (1V) input code needs to be prefixed with the symbol "¤".
